FACULTY OF SCIENCE
Department of Biochemistry
Per-Course Appointment - Partial

The Department of Biochemistry invites applications from individuals interested in teaching the following undergraduate course in the Fall 2017 semester. Subject to budgetary restrictions and sufficient enrolments, appointments will be made on a course by course basis and will not entail any obligation to conduct research or to perform any administrative service for Memorial University. Appointments will be made in accordance with the provisions in the MUN-LUMUN Collective Agreement. Course design and evaluation methods for all courses will be in accordance with Biochemistry department regulations and the Memorial University Calendar.

Course Title: Biochemistry 2005 Food, Food Safety, and Health

Course Schedule: Slot 05 (12:00-12:50pm Monday•Wednesday•Friday)

Campus Location: St. John’s

Course Description: 2005 Food, Food Safety, and Health introduces the concepts of the composition of foods, and how the processing of food affects sensory appeal, shelf life and nutrient composition. Common food and water-borne illnesses (risks and prevention) are covered in the course content. Students will also be introduced to food biotechnologies, including genetically modified organisms, nutriceuticals and the development of functional foods. The successful applicant will be responsible for teaching up to two-thirds of the course.

Qualifications: A M.Sc. in nutrition, food sciences, or a related area is required. Applicants who have completed a PhD are preferred. A demonstrated knowledge of human nutrition and food safety is required. Practical experience in an area of biochemical nutrition or food sciences is preferred. Familiarity with teaching this subject matter is an asset.

To apply for this position, please submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae and the names of referees, electronically or in writing, to:
