Position Available: Graduate Teaching Assistant

Course: Biochemistry 2005

Number of positions: 1

Hours: 40

Duties: The successful applicant will carry out the following duties: attend meetings with supervisor, give small number of lectures, number to be arranged with supervisor, mark midterms and/or finals and/or other assignments, assist with exam invigilation, and answer questions on course material and/or assignments, Add and/or maintain course material on D2L and/or answer queries and/or participate in discussions on course D2L site. Graduate Teaching Assistants will report directly to the Course Instructor.

Duration: Lectures start the week of September 6, 2017 and end Dec 1, 2017. Marking usually finishes 5 days after the final examination.

Qualifications required: Enrolment in a masters or doctoral program in the area of biochemistry. Applicants must have previously completed this course. Preference will be given to those candidates who demonstrate a thorough knowledge of content in this course and/or previous teaching experience.

Application deadline: 5:00 pm, August 11, 2017

Apply to: Head, Department of Biochemistry

Please submit a letter outlining your ability to meet the required qualifications. Please include the competition number. E-mail your letter to biochem@mun.ca

This position is covered by a collective agreement between TAUMUN and Memorial University of Newfoundland.