

It's coming ...

The attack of the killer Biebs!

Tween pop stars can be scary at the best of times, but when they're 100 ft. tall and bent on world-domination, it really pays to have a plan.

Memorial's new Emergency Plan doesn't specifically mention any of your little sisters' musical idols, but it does contain everything you need to know in the event of an emergency.

We all have a role to play:
