

The Rennie Gaulton Award for Excellence in Teaching

Nomination Form for the 2016 - 2017 Academic Year

In 2009, the Psychology Department lost one of its most dedicated teachers, Rennie Gaulton, to cancer. During the 30 years Rennie taught psychology, he inspired many students to learn more about the field, many of whom went on to pursue a degree in psychology. He pioneered new methods of teaching and evaluating psychology, and his enthusiasm for teaching was shared with all those who took his classes. To honour Rennie's commitment to teaching psychology, the department has created the Rennie Gaulton Award for Excellence in Teaching.

This award will be presented to a faculty member in the department who demonstrates the same dedication to undergraduate teaching that Rennie did. If you have had a psychology professor, at any point in your university career, that you feel is deserving of this award, please nominate him/her. A committee consisting of three psychology faculty and an undergraduate student representative will choose the recipient of the award. The award will be given to one professor each academic year and will be presented at the Annual Psychology Research Conference. Nominations are sought at the end of the Fall and Winter semesters.

To nominate a professor, please fill out the following form and either e-mail the form to psychsecretary@mun.ca or drop it off to the Psychology main office (SN2065). Nominations can be submitted any time before March 31, 2017.

Name of the professor you are nominating: _____

Semester and year that s/he taught you: _____

Course that s/he taught: _____

Your name and student number: _____

Signature: _____

Check here if you agree to have this nomination passed on to the nominee. Your name and student number will be withheld.

Why this professor is deserving of this award (Please use the reverse side of this sheet if necessary.):