

Archaeology 1005: Critical Reading and Writing in Aboriginal and Indigenous Studies

Classes: Tuesdays and Thursdays,

1:30-2:45 pm (AT) with Dr. Scott Neilsen

Offered live in Happy Valley-Goose Bay with video links to St. John's and Grenfell campuses

This course features the analysis of scholarly literature, media, and other sources of knowledge related to Aboriginal and Indigenous studies. Students practice analytical reading and writing through class discussion and assignments related to the study of both past and present.

This is the Introductory Course for the new Certificate in Aboriginal & Indigenous Studies and can also fulfill the CRW requirement as part of the Bachelor of Arts Core Requirements.