Focus area: Finance

Corporate finance, international finance, investments: it all comes down to raising, allocating and managing real and financial assets. Pursuing courses from this focus area will help you gain the knowledge to thrive in a dynamic industry, acquire the investments analysis skills to manage money, and learn to make the right business decisions when it comes to financing and investing.

If you would like to focus your studies in finance, you should consider the following elective courses, which we expect to offer over the next two academic years:

- BUSI 4540: Investments (formerly BUSI 6510)
- BUSI 4545: Options and Futures (formerly BUSI 7510)
- BUSI 4550: Financial Management II (formerly BUSI 5500)
- BUSI 4560: International Finance (formerly BUSI 6550)
- BUSI 5550: Advanced Finance (formerly BUSI 7500)

Plus, we recommend any two of the following courses:

- BUSI 4005: Business Law II (formerly BUSI 5000)
- BUSI 4015: Business and Society (formerly BUSI 7010)
- BUSI 4101: Intermediate Accounting I (formerly BUSI 6100)
- BUSI 4102: Intermediate Accounting II (formerly BUSI 6110)
- BUSI 4121: Taxation I (formerly BUSI 6120)
- BUSI 4131: Auditing (formerly BUSI 6130)
- BUSI 5120: Advanced Financial Accounting (formerly BUSI 7120)
- BUSI 6053: Applied Equity Valuation
- ECON 3150: Money and Banking

Students may also consider other non-business courses including:

- ECON 3000: Intermediate Micro Theory I
- ECON 3010: Intermediate Macro Theory I
- ECON 4025: Public Expenditure
- MATH 2090: Mathematics of Finance

All course descriptions are available through the University Calendar.
