FACULTY OF SCIENCE

Department of Computer Science

Per-Course Appointment

The Department of Computer Science invites applications from individuals interested in teaching Computer Science 1002 in the Spring 2023 semester.

Subject to budgetary restrictions and sufficient enrolments, appointments will be made on a course by course basis and will not entail any obligation to conduct research or to perform any administrative service for Memorial University. Appointments will be made in accordance with the provisions in the MUN-LUMUN Collective Agreement. Course design and evaluation methods for all courses will be in accordance with the Department of Computer Science policies and regulations and the Memorial University Calendar.

Course Title: COMP 1002 Introduction to Logic for Computer Scientists

Course Schedule: Lectures: Tuesdays and Thursdays, 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. (Slot 18), and Labs: Wednesdays, 2:00-4:50 p.m. (Slot 63)

Campus Location: St. John's

Course Description: COMP 1002 introduces methods of reasoning and logic tools that underlie computer science. In particular, this course covers propositional and predicate logic, sets, and other discrete structures, as well as modular arithmetic and basic counting, with emphasis on their applications in computer science.

For further information regarding the Computer Science undergraduate program, including this course, refer to the Departmental website at <https://www.mun.ca/computerscience/undergraduates/>

Qualifications: A general knowledge of all areas of Computer Science is required. Familiarity with both algorithmic and systems aspects of computing is necessary. The applicant should be able to confer excitement about the field of Computer Science. Prior teaching experience with course material for Computer science is highly beneficial. Applicants should have a Master's degree in Computer Science or closely related discipline, or equivalent combination of education and experience.
