

Pierre-Oliver Pineau (PhD, HEC Montréal, 2000) is a professor at the Department of Decision Sciences of HEC Montréal and holds the Chair in Energy Sector Management since December 2013. He is an energy policy and management specialist, with a focus on electricity reforms. His research focuses on electricity market integration and on optimal approaches to balance energy production and consumption.

He worked in Canada, Africa, Latin America and the Nordic countries and has published papers on all these regions. He is a member of the Editorial Advisory Board of the International Journal of Energy Sector Management. He is a member of CIRODD (Interuniversity Research Centre for the Operationalization Sustainable Development) and of CRÉ (Ethics research center). He held positions in Canada at the University of Victoria (School of Public Administration, 2001-2006) and at Concordia University (Economics Department, 2000-2001). He sits on the Board of directors of the Canadian Association for Energy Economics.

He regularly contributes to the energy conversation in Canada, and especially in Quebec, through media interventions and public speeches.

Department of Economics: Visiting Speaker Series

Pierre-Oliver Pineau

The Benefits of Integrating Electricity Markets – Why and How Canadian Provinces Should Reform their Electricity Sector

Friday, Nov. 20, 2015

3–4:30 pm

A2065

Arts and Administration Building

This event is presented by the Department of Economics

Funding provided by the Vice-President
Academic's "Support for Scholarship in the Arts at Memorial" Program.

This event is open to the public.

economics@mun.ca

864-8248

www.mun.ca

