Education Reform In Post-Confederation Newfoundland and Labrador: Politics and Lessons

What societal forces have been shaping education policy in Newfoundland and Labrador since Confederation? How did changes in our demographic, social, and economic way of life help to shape education reforms? What lessons can we learn from these reforms as we create the educational system of the future?

Dr. Philip Warren is a former school teacher, principal, university professor and administrator, and a former Minister of Education in the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador. He will be accompanied by an expert panel:

- Dr. Alice Collins, Dean of Education at Memorial University
- Honourable Edward M. Roberts, former Provincial Cabinet Minister and Past Lieutenant Governor of Newfoundland and Labrador

Come listen to the presentations and contribute your thoughts during the discussion session. If you can't attend in person, the session will be webcast live at 7:30 NDT (23:00 GMT), at www.mun.ca/harriscentre

HAVE YOUR SAY – Challenge the panel with your own ideas.
