A PROSPERITY PLAN FOR NEWFOUNDLAND & LABRADOR

Over the past ten years, Newfoundland and Labrador has gone from poverty to prosperity, all due to revenues from non-renewable natural resources, especially petroleum. How should we spend this new-found – but temporary – wealth?

Join Dr. Wade Locke, professor of Economics at Memorial University, as well as representatives of the business, social and public sectors, in a lively discussion about how we should invest our new wealth for the greatest benefit of all citizens.
