THRASHER

1772 18 jan farley journal news marg on 10 dec nfld-poole struck agst a scilly rock and split in half. all the crew perished except two men who being in the fore part of the ship were driven upon the rock and remained there three days; when one of them was observed, by some persons in a boat, to make a signal who immediately went to their relief and gave them some rum, which revived the man who made the signal, but the other though in good spirits before, on his seeing the boat approach them, was so transported with the prospect of his deliverance that he never spoke afterwards, but died as they were carrying them to the shore
