

David Reynolds (BA, Memorial)

Dave Reynolds completed his B.A. in Philosophy and English Literature at Memorial University in 2007. Immediately after completing his undergrad, Dave began his graduate studies in the M.Phil. in Humanities program. The interdisciplinary structure of the program was the greatest feature that attracted Dave to the Humanities. He is currently focusing his research on the social function of the superhero in today's modern myths. The M.Phil. in Humanities is ideal for Dave's research since it allows him to utilize his background in English Literature and Philosophy while further developing Anthropological and Sociological analyses, as well

(no photo at the moment...)