

Seeking Indigenous Nursing Students for Research Participation

Welcome | Atelihai | Pjila'si | Kuei | Boozhoo | Tawâw

Are you an Indigenous Undergraduate Nursing Student who wants to contribute your perspective to future research? If so, this may be an opportunity to take part of!

Project Overview

We are inviting Indigenous Nursing Students studying in Newfoundland and Labrador the opportunity to provide their perspectives regarding a potential nursing project that will examine Non-Indigenous Nursing Students beliefs on the Calls for Truth and Reconciliation.

Criteria

- Canadian Indigenous undergraduate nursing students from all schools of Nursing in Newfoundland and Labrador

Team

- Dr Hrag Yacoubian, Principal Investigator
- Dr Erica (Samms) Hurley, Co-Principal Investigator
- Dr Robin Devey Burry, Co-Investigator

Interview Process

- Interviews are 60-90 minutes in length
- The sessions will be held virtually or in person, individually or in a small group, based on participant choice. You can indicate your choice when you contact the research team to express your interest to participate.
- Each participant will receive a small token of thank you for your time and participation.
- If you are interested or have any questions, feel free to contact Sanaz Labbaf, Graduate Research Assistant at slabbaf@mun.ca

The proposal for this research has been reviewed by the Interdisciplinary Committee on Ethics in Human Research and found to be in compliance with Memorial University's ethics policy. If you have ethical concerns about the research, such as the way you have been treated or your rights as a participant, you may contact the Chairperson of the ICEHR at icehr@mun.ca or by telephone at (+1) 709-864-2861.
