Applications are invited from qualified individuals who are interested in being considered for a position as a per course instructor teaching Psychology 2150 Introduction to Forensic Psychology in Fall semester 2019 on the St. John's campus. The course is currently scheduled for W 19.00-21.30, although this may change. The Calendar description is:

2150 Introduction to Forensic Psychology will provide an in-depth overview of the relationship between psychology and the law. A variety of topics will be discussed and critically evaluated, including the use and misuse of psychology-based investigative methods such as offender and geographic profiling, detection of deception, investigative interviewing, eyewitness testimony, jury decision-making, corrections and treatment, risk assessment, and criminal responsibility.

Required qualifications: (1) A demonstrated knowledge of psychology and of the specific topics noted in the course description; (2) an M.Sc. in psychology; and (3) demonstrated experience conducting research in this area at the Masters (or higher) level are required. Preference will be given first to applicants who have previously taught Psychology 2150 on the St. John's campus, and secondarily to applicants who have previous experience teaching the equivalent of Psychology 2150 elsewhere.

Applicants should send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, evidence of effective teaching, and the names of three references in electronic form to: psychsecretary@mun.ca

If electronic submission is not possible, applicants may send the information to:

Head, Department of Psychology
Memorial University of Newfoundland
St. John's, NL
A1B 3X9

The deadline for receipt of complete applications is 4:00 PM, 19 July, 2019.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. Memorial University is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from qualified women and men, visible minorities, aboriginal people and persons with disabilities
