1 Note

The contents of this calendar set forth the intentions of the University at the time of publication, with respect to the matters contained therein. THE UNIVERSITY EXPRESSLY RESERVES THE RIGHT TO DEVIATE FROM WHAT APPEARS IN THE CALENDAR WITHOUT NOTICE, including both the content and scheduling therein, in whole or in part, and including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the right to revise the content of, and to cancel, defer, reschedule or suspend, in whole or in part, the scheduling of particular periods of instruction, courses, or programs, and the academic program of the University, and to alter, accelerate or defer fees and charges, and to do any or all of the above either in order to serve what the University considers to be the best interests of the academic or student community or of the University itself, or because of any circumstance or occurrence, whether occurring by or through the willful act or negligence of the University, its agents, servants and employees, or otherwise and whether or not beyond the reasonable or other control of the University, and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, as a result of circumstances or occurrences including financial resources, natural catastrophe or disaster, the health, safety and well-being of the employees or students of the University, labour disagreements or disputes, slow-downs, work-stoppages, and strikes. THE UNIVERSITY DOES NOT ACCEPT, AND HEREBY EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS, ANY OR ALL RESPONSIBILITY OR LIABILITY to any person, persons or group, for any loss, injury, damages or adverse effect, either direct or indirect, consequential or otherwise, arising out of any one or more of such deviations. The University hereby disclaims liability to any person who may suffer loss as a result of reliance upon any information contained in this calendar.

The rights and obligations of parties subject to the Calendar and the rules and regulations of Memorial University of Newfoundland shall be governed by the laws of the Province of Newfoundland and Labrador. Any action or proceeding against Memorial University of Newfoundland shall be brought in the Province of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Each and every of the subsequent provisions contained in this Calendar, and the relationship, both legal and otherwise, between the University, and its students, is expressly subject to and governed by the above provisions.

The Office of the Registrar will assist students with any questions or problems which might arise concerning the interpretation of academic regulations. It is, however, the responsibility of students to see that their academic programs meet the University’s regulations in all respects.

2 The Memorial University of Newfoundland Code

All members of the Memorial University of Newfoundland Community, which includes students, faculty, and staff, shall treat others with respect and fairness, be responsible and honest, and uphold the highest standards of academic integrity.

3 Student Code of Conduct

Memorial University of Newfoundland expects that students will conduct themselves in compliance with University Regulations and Policies, Departmental Policies, and Federal, Provincial and Municipal laws, as well as codes of ethics that govern students who are members of regulated professions. The Student Code of Conduct outlines the behaviors which the University considers to be non-academic misconduct offenses, and the range of remedies and/or penalties which may be imposed. Academic misconduct is outlined in UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS - Academic Misconduct in the University Calendar.

For more information about the Student Code of Conduct, see www.mun.ca/student.

4 Glossary of Terms Used in This Calendar

In this calendar “Grenfell Campus” or “Grenfell ” refers to Grenfell Campus, Memorial University of Newfoundland and “Marine Institute” refers to the Fisheries and Marine Institute of Memorial University of Newfoundland. “University”, when capitalized, refers to Memorial University of Newfoundland.

Academic standing: is an enrolment status normally determined each semester by a regular evaluation procedure used to assess whether or not students are meeting the standards prescribed for continuing in the University and/or their programs.

Academic unit: refers to a centre, department, division, faculty, program or school, other than an administrative unit, as the context requires.

Academic year: runs from September 1 to August 31.

Accelerated course: is a course that is offered in a shorter time frame than a semester or session.

Administrative unit: refers to an office, division or centre, other than an academic unit, as listed in the Offices of the University section of the Calendar.

Appeal: is the challenge of, or the request for review of, a judgment regarding the application of regulations.

Assignment: is an evaluative exercise including but not limited to assigned work, term papers and projects.

Certificate: is an academic designation awarded for the completion of a specified program of study which is of shorter duration than a degree or diploma.

Challenge for credit: is the request for consideration of academic credit resulting from experience or knowledge gained elsewhere for which transfer credit cannot be awarded.

Co-requisite course: is a course which may be taken concurrently with or successfully completed prior to the course for which it is required.

Course: is a unit of work in a particular subject normally extending through one semester or session, the successful completion of which normally carries credit toward the fulfillment of the requirements of certain degrees, diplomas or certificates.

Course number: courses are designated by four characters. The first character signifies the level of the course. Where all four characters are numeric, the last three are used by academic units to indicate various information such as course sequence and area of study.
Where the last character is alphabetic, the letter:

A or B identifies a linked course. No credits or points are given until the "B" part is successfully completed.

C identifies an English course that does not carry credit towards a degree, diploma or certificate.

F identifies a foundation course that is intended to remedy a specific academic weakness and does not carry credit towards a degree, diploma or certificate.

L identifies a period of university-level learning involving residency outside of Canada, normally through the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences.

T identifies an undergraduate teaching internship offered by the Faculty of Education.

W identifies a course in either a work term in a co-operative program or a special project in certain of the professional schools and faculties and may or may not be assigned credit hours.

X identifies a course which represents an entire semester's work and carries at least 15 credit hours.

Courses offered outside of the normal time frame:
are those with different start and/or end dates than those of the semester or session.

Credit hour:
is the measure used to reflect the relative weight of a given course toward the fulfilment of appropriate degree, diploma, certificate, major, minor, or other program requirements. A weight of 1 credit hour normally means that the course meets for lectures one hour per week for the duration of a semester or two hours per week for the duration of a session. Unless otherwise indicated, a course normally has a credit value of 3 credit hours.

Credit-restricted courses:
are courses which are closely related but not equivalent. Credit is limited to one of the credit-restricted courses. Normally, credit-restricted courses cannot be substituted, one for the other, to satisfy program requirements.

Cross-listed courses:
are courses which are listed under two or more academic units and which can be taken for credit from one unit only. Cross-listed courses can be substituted, one for the other, to satisfy program requirements.

Degree:
is an academic designation awarded for the completion of a specified program of study which is of longer duration than a diploma or certificate.

Diploma:
is an academic designation awarded for the completion of a specified program of study which is of shorter duration than a degree and longer duration than a certificate.

Equivalent courses: are those which are determined to be equal for credit determination, although the subject area or course number will differ. These are normally identified with the phrase "Same as".

Examination:
is an evaluative exercise including but not limited to tests, quizzes or mid-terms, final or supplementary examinations.

Foundation course: is a course intended to remedy a specific academic weakness and is identified by the letter "F" as the last character of the course number. A foundation course does not carry credit towards a degree, diploma or certificate.

GPA:
is the abbreviation for grade point average.

Head of academic unit:
includes but is not limited to co-ordinator, dean, department head, division head, associate vice-president academic, vice-president, or equivalent.

In-class work:
is any part of the evaluation in a course which is to be completed by the student in a supervised setting, at a time and location designated by the University.

Inactive courses:
are courses which have not been offered in the previous three academic years and which are not scheduled to be offered in the current academic year.

Last week of the lecturing period in a semester or session:
consists of the final five days of lectures, including statutory holidays on days when lectures would otherwise be held, in a semester or session.

Lecturing period:
is a designated period of lectures within a semester or session as defined by the University Diary.

Linked course: is a course comprising two components and is normally identified by the letter "A" or "B" as the last character of the course number. No credits or points are given until the "B" part is successfully completed.

Major:
is a subject or field of study which a student normally specializes in during the course of degree studies.

Minor:
is a subject or field of study which a student normally pursues secondary to a major during the course of degree studies.

Online course: is a for credit university course delivered entirely over the Internet. Examinations may be written at exam sites or online. Students access course materials and participate in course activities through Memorial University of Newfoundland's learning management system.

Prerequisite course: is a course which must be successfully completed prior to commencing the course for which it is required.

Program:
is a series of courses, the successful completion of which, if all requirements are met, qualifies the candidate for a degree, diploma or certificate.

Registration: is the process of selecting, enrolling in, and being assessed fees for courses.
General Information 2020-2021

Registration period:

is, in any semester, the period extending from the first day of registration to two weeks following the first day of lectures, as stated in the University Diary. In any session, it is the period extending from the first day of registration to one week following the first day of lectures, as stated in the University Diary.

Repeatable course:

is a course that may be taken for credit in several semesters to a maximum number of credit hours. All such courses shall have specified both the number of credit hours assigned per semester and the maximum number of credit hours to be awarded.

Semester:

is a period of approximately fourteen consecutive weeks during which there are at least twelve weeks of lecture. Normally the Fall semester commences in early September, the Winter semester in early January, and the Spring semester in early May.

Session:

is a period of approximately seven consecutive weeks in the Spring semester during which there are at least six weeks of lecture. The first half of Spring semester is designated as Intersession; the second half of Spring semester is designated as Summer session.

Student Self-Service:

is a suite of e-business student services including registration and the provision of personalized student information.

Take-home work:

is any part of the evaluation in a course which is to be completed by the student without supervision or a designated location, normally subject to a due date determined by the University.

Transcript:

is the complete and unabridged report of a student's academic record.

Transfer credit:

is academic credit granted for work completed at an institution other than Memorial University of Newfoundland.

Waiver:

is the permission granted by the appropriate authority for exemption from a particular program requirement and/or a particular university regulation.

8 General Information
Memorial University of Newfoundland is the only university in Newfoundland and Labrador. It has campuses in St. John’s and in Corner Brook, as well as Harlow, England.

8.1 The Beginning
Memorial University College was established as a memorial to the Newfoundlanders who had lost their lives on active service during the First World War; it was later rededicated to also encompass the province’s war dead of the Second World War. The College opened its doors on the old Parade grounds in St. John’s to a total student body of 55 on September 15, 1925.

8.2 University Status
The elevation of the College to the full status of a university was one of the priorities of the first post-Confederation Government. At the initial session of our Provincial House of Assembly, July 13, 1949, the intention of the Government of the day was conveyed by the then Lieutenant-Governor, the Honourable Sir Albert Walsh, in these words from the Speech from the Throne:

“It is considered that Newfoundland should have her own degree-conferring University and you will be invited to consider legislation which would confer upon the Memorial University College the status of a university. It is planned to widen and improve the functions, and thus increase the public usefulness of this institution created originally in honour of our illustrious dead of the First World War.”

Royal assent was given the Bill creating The Memorial University of Newfoundland on August 13, 1949, exactly one month to the day from the opening of the House. The Board of Regents and the Senate were inaugurated in May 1950, and the first Convocation of the University was held on June 3, 1950, when the first degrees were awarded.
8.3 A Period of Expansion

With university status, Memorial University of Newfoundland entered a period of rapid growth that was to continue into the 70s. In 1949-1950, there was a student body of 307 in the new university; in the academic year 1961-1962, when the university moved to its present St. John's campus, the student enrolment had reached 1,745 full-time and 152 part-time. Ten years later, 1971-1972, the student population, including full- and part-time students in degree programs, was 10,980.

During this time there were equally dramatic changes in the variety and extent of available academic programs. In the early years of the university, there were two faculties (Arts and Science, and Education). While the academic structure was quite similar in 1961, when the university moved to its new campus on Elizabeth Avenue in St. John's, areas of instruction, course offerings and degrees awarded had all increased.

In 1966 the Board of Regents approved the establishment of a small residential campus in the quaint, historic town of Harlow, Essex, located approximately midway between London and Cambridge. The first Memorial University students came to Harlow in 1969 for education and engineering one-semester internships in Harlow schools and factories. Harlow Campus went through extensive modernisation in 2002 to meet the needs of today's undergraduate and graduate students. For more information, visit www.mun.ca/harlow.

In 1975 Memorial University of Newfoundland established a regional campus in Corner Brook. The campus was named Sir Wilfred Grenfell College in 1979 honouring the memory of the medical missionary who pioneered medicine in Northern Newfoundland and along the coast of Labrador. In 2010 the campus in Corner Brook was renamed Grenfell Campus, Memorial University of Newfoundland. Since its opening, Grenfell has evolved from a junior college offering first- and second-year courses to providing entire degree programs in the areas of arts, fine arts, science, business administration, resource management and nursing. The first degrees, in the disciplines of theatre and visual arts, were introduced in 1988. Grenfell Campus currently offers 18 undergraduate and one graduate degree programs. For more information, visit www.grenfell.mun.ca.

In 1992 the Marine Institute joined the University, becoming the Fisheries and Marine Institute of Memorial University of Newfoundland. Founded in 1964, the Marine Institute offers a range of certificate, diploma, undergraduate and graduate degree programs in the ocean and marine sectors and is involved in research and technology transfer. For more information, visit www.mi.mun.ca.

Today, Memorial University of Newfoundland offers more than 100 undergraduate and graduate degree programs through seven faculties - Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Applied Science, Humanities and Social Sciences, Medicine, Nursing, and Science; eight schools - Arts and Social Science, Fine Arts, Graduate Studies, Human Kinetics and Recreation, Music, Pharmacy, Science and the Environment, and Social Work; and the academic units at the Marine Institute. Information regarding enrolment statistics can be found in the Fact Book at www.mun.ca/ciap/FactBook.

The University’s three frameworks – teaching and learning, research and public engagement – guide the University’s development.

The teaching and learning community at Memorial University of Newfoundland connects learners and educators to each other, the broader community and the world, in the service of knowledge generation and exchange, and the advancement of society. For more information, visit blog.citl.mun.ca/teachingandlearning/.

Faculty and students actively participate in research and development. Memorial University of Newfoundland is one of the most important research facilities in Atlantic Canada and has developed numerous research programs and facilities that are among the most advanced in the world. For more information and a complete listing of research facilities, visit www.mun.ca/research.

Memorial University of Newfoundland is also one of the most publicly engaged universities in the country, undertaking projects that benefit both the university and the community. The University encourages and provides support for public engagement through faculties, units and centres that offer programming to help facilitate public engagement, through funding for public engagement, and through the Public Engagement Framework. For more information, visit www.mun.ca/publicengagement.

8.4 The Campuses

Memorial University of Newfoundland, positioned on the edge of the North Atlantic, is one of the largest universities on Canada’s East Coast and the only university in the Province of Newfoundland and Labrador. There are four campus locations in the Province and one abroad.

8.4.1 St. John’s

www.mun.ca

Spanning approximately 220 acres, Memorial University of Newfoundland’s largest Campus is home to extensive facilities that support a full range of academic programs in a modern, urban setting. Memorial University of Newfoundland offers access to the best in research, teaching and learning, and public engagement, providing world-class opportunities and contributing expertise and insight both locally and globally.

On the Campus to the south of Prince Philip Drive are the Arts and Administration, Science, Chemistry-Physics, Education (G.A. Hickman), Mathematics (Henrietta Harvey), Physical Education, Biotechnology, Facilities Management and Music (M.O. Morgan) buildings; as well as the Queen Elizabeth II Library, Bruneau Centre for Research and Innovation, Paton College and Macpherson College residence complexes, Burton’s Pond Apartments, Campus Childcare Centre, and The Works recreation complex, comprising the Aquarena, Field House and other sports and recreation facilities on Campus. Spanning Prince Philip Drive is the University (Smallwood) Centre, containing student services and student union operations, as well as recreation and dining facilities.

North of Prince Philip Drive are the Health Sciences Centre, incorporating the Faculty of Medicine, the Faculty of Nursing, the School of Pharmacy and Eastern Health; the Engineering (S.J. Carew), Earth Sciences (Alexander Murray), Business Administration, and C-CORE (Captain Robert A. Bartlett) buildings. St. John's College, Coughlan College, Queen's College and Spencer Hall. Slightly further north is the Memorial University of Newfoundland Botanical Garden.

The Ocean Sciences Centre is located to the west at Logy Bay. In 2013 the University acquired the former Battery Hotel property in St. John’s and planning for the facility is ongoing. The Battery will be established primarily as a public engagement facility to further connect the University with the community. The first residence rooms for graduate students at the Battery opened in September 2015. For more information visit www.mun.ca.

8.4.2 Fisheries and Marine Institute

www.mi.mun.ca

The Fisheries and Marine Institute, headquartered on Ridge Road in St. John’s, is Canada’s leading centre of education, training, applied research and technology transfer for the ocean industries. As a Campus of Memorial University of Newfoundland, the Marine Institute offers undergraduate and graduate degrees, advanced diplomas, diplomas of technology, certificates in such fields as marine transportation, food and water quality, naval architecture, aquaculture, underwater vehicles, ocean mapping, marine environmental, marine studies, technology management, and maritime management.
The Institute has a number of state-of-the-art centres and units, including the Offshore Safety and Survival Centre (OSSC), the Safety Emergency and Response Training Centre (SERT), the Centre of Marine Simulation (CMS), the Centre for Aquaculture and Seafood Development (C ASD), MI International, the Centre for Sustainable and Aquatic Resources (CSAR), the Community Based Education Delivery Unit (CBED), the Centre for Fisheries Ecosystems Research (CFER) and the Centre for Applied Ocean Technology (CTec). These areas lead the institute in applied research and technology transfer and also provide training to a variety of industry clients. For more information, visit www.mi.mun.ca.

8.4.3 Grenfell Campus

www.grenfell.mun.ca

Grenfell Campus, Memorial University of Newfoundland, stands on a 185-acre site with a spectacular view of the city of Corner Brook and the Bay of Islands. With a student population of about 1,250, Grenfell Campus offers a personalized education through a wide variety of interdisciplinary experiences. Students may choose from undergraduate degrees in arts, business administration, fine arts, education, nursing, science or resource management. Grenfell also offers a master of arts degree in environmental policy and a master of science degree in boreal ecosystems and agricultural sciences.

Located on University Drive, Grenfell Campus comprises five academic buildings. The Arts and Science Building houses administrative offices, academic classrooms and labs, recreational facilities, a bookstore, the Campus's original student residence, and one of the largest astronomical telescopes in Atlantic Canada. The Fine Arts Building features facilities for theatre and visual arts programs. The Library and Computing Building contains Ferriss Hodgett Library, a computer lab and lecture hall facilities. The Forest Centre houses office, classroom, lab and lecture space, as well as the Atlantic Division offices of the Canadian Forest Service (Natural Resources Canada). Annexed to the Forest Centre is a boreal ecosystem research facility, which supports research in agricultural, environmental and boreal sectors.

In addition to the original dormitory-style residence, student housing has been expanded to include eight chalet-style apartment buildings and a residence complex; about half the student population at Grenfell resides on Campus. The GCSU Student Centre, an annex to the Arts and Science Building, provides dining and recreational space for the student population, as well as office space for the Grenfell Campus Student Union. For more information, visit www.grenfell.mun.ca.

8.4.4 Harlow Campus

www.mun.ca/harlow

Harlow Campus is the international Campus of Memorial University of Newfoundland, one of only two universities in Canada with Campus facilities in the United Kingdom. Professional schools and academic departments at Memorial University of Newfoundland use Harlow Campus in Essex, UK, to deliver ongoing and specialized one-time programming, internships and experiential learning. The Campus provides technologically equipped meeting facilities and residence accommodations for up to 51 people.

Harlow Campus consists of a group of converted 19th century and older buildings. The main building is The Maltings (once used to dry grain), which now houses the administration offices and accommodations for residents. It also contains a dining room, library and computer suite, common room, laundry room and the Lord Taylor lecture room. Other Campus buildings include Cabot House, St. John's House, St. John's Cottage, and 44-46 Market Street. Faculty-led courses are offered at Harlow at varying times. Visit www.mun.ca/harlow for more information.

8.4.5 Signal Hill Campus

www.mun.ca/signalhill

www.mun.ca/signalhill/engage

Memorial University of Newfoundland's newest location, Signal Hill Campus, officially opened its doors in September 2018. With a focus on public engagement and innovation, the initial tenants, programming and partnerships based at the University's iconic new location will help address 21st century issues by connecting the expertise and ideas of the University's students, faculty, staff and retirees, and the people and organizations of Newfoundland and Labrador.

The tenants in the Campus' Emera Innovation Exchange facility include flagship publicly engaged units, including the Gardiner Centre, Genesis, the Harris Centre of Regional Policy and Development, the Newfoundland Quarterly and the Office of Public Engagement, along with the Memorial University of Newfoundland Pensioners' Association, and the community organization Business and Arts NL. Also located at Signal Hill Campus are graduate student accommodations and a bookable high-tech conference and meeting centre.

Building on that history and excellence in public engagement, Signal Hill Campus opened in September 2018 with the launch of the Emera Innovation Exchange facility, a hub for public engagement and innovation, housing several public-facing Memorial University of Newfoundland tenants, graduate student accommodations, and a bookable high-tech conference and meeting centre.

8.5 Vision, Mission, and Core Values of the University

In 2013 the University adopted:

8.10 University Constitution

The Constitution of the University is embodied in an Act of the House of Assembly of Newfoundland entitled An Act Respecting the Memorial University of Newfoundland, Chap. 231, Revised Statutes of Newfoundland (as amended). The Act delineates the authority and the functions of the University and its parts, as follows:

There shall be a university which shall be called the Memorial University of Newfoundland, consisting of a Chancellor, Convocation, Board of Regents, Senate, Faculty Councils and the Faculties and which shall be a body politic and corporate. No other university having corporate powers capable of being exercised within Newfoundland shall be known by the same name, nor shall any other university have power to grant degrees.

The University shall have full power and authority from time to time and at all times to establish and maintain such faculties, colleges, schools, institutions, departments, chairs and courses as to the Board of Regents may seem meet, and to give instructions and training; to grant degrees, including honorary degrees, diplomas and certificates of proficiency; to provide facilities for the prosecution of original research in every branch of knowledge and learning and to conduct and carry on such research work; and generally, to promote and carry on the work of a university in all its branches.

8.10.1 The Board of Regents

www.mun.ca/regents

The management, administration and control of the property, revenue, business and affairs of the University are vested in a Board of Regents, consisting of:

1. three ex-officio members
   a. the Chancellor of the University
   b. the President of the University
   c. the Vice-President of the University who is the Pro Vice-Chancellor;
2. six members elected by the Alumni Association of the University;
3. seventeen members appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council; and
4. four members appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council being full-time students of the University who
   a. meet the requirements set out in the regulations, and
   b. are recommended to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council by the board following the recommendation to the board of one candidate each from the following student unions:
      i. the Memorial University of Newfoundland Students' Union,
      ii. the Graduate Students' Union,
      iii. the Marine Institute Students' Union, and
      iv. the Grenfell Campus Students' Union.

8.10.2 The Senate

www.mun.ca/senate

Matters of an academic character are in general charge of the Senate of the University, consisting of the following:

1. The Chancellor of the University;
2. ex-officio members who shall be
   a. the President of the University, who shall be the chairman thereof,
   b. the Vice-President (Academic) of the University, who shall be the deputy chairman thereof,
   c. the Deputy Minister of Education or a representative of the Deputy Minister,
   d. the Vice-President of the Grenfell Campus,
   e. the Deans of the Faculties of the University,
   f. the Dean of Graduate Studies,
   g. the University Librarian,
   h. the University Registrar, and
   i. such other persons holding office within the University or in any of the campuses or institutions affiliated with the University chosen in such number and manner as may be approved by the Board;
3. such members from the academic staff of the Faculties and Professional Schools of the University, exclusive of any person who is a member by virtue of paragraph 2., elected in such number and manner as may be approved by the Board, but the number elected under this paragraph shall be not less than twice the number of members named or chosen under paragraph 2.; and
4. thirteen members from the students in attendance at the University, including at least one student from the Marine Institute, one graduate student and one student from Grenfell Campus with all members to be chosen in a manner approved by the Board.

8.10.3 Convocation

www.mun.ca/convocation

Convocation of the University, as provided in the Act, is composed of the Chancellor, the President, the Senate, the Board of Regents, all persons who are graduates of the Memorial University College, all persons holding academic appointments with the University whose names are added to the roll of the Convocation by the Registrar of the University from time to time upon instructions from the President, and all persons who have become graduates of the University. The functions of Convocation are chiefly elective, but it may also consider all questions affecting the well-being and prosperity of the University and make representations from time to time on such questions to the Senate, which shall consider the same and return to the Convocation its conclusions thereon.
8.10.4 Affiliation
The Act provides that, subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, the University may affiliate with any college or institution established in the province for the promotion of Arts and Science, or for instruction in Law, Medicine, Nursing, Education, Engineering, Agriculture or in any other useful branch of learning, and to dissolve any such affiliation. The institution which has become affiliated with the University under this provision is Queen's College, St. John's.

8.11 Academic Dress
The academic dress for matriculated undergraduates of the University shall be similar to the Scholar's gown of the University of Oxford. It shall be worn whenever the President so directs.

9.1 The Memorial University of Newfoundland Code

The attention of all members of the University community is drawn to the section of the University Calendar titled The Memorial University of Newfoundland Code, which articulates the University's commitment to maintaining the highest standards of academic integrity.

9.2 Student Code of Conduct

Memorial University of Newfoundland expects that students will conduct themselves in compliance with University Regulations and Policies, Departmental Policies, and Federal, Provincial and Municipal laws, as well as codes of ethics that govern students who are members of regulated professions. The Student Code of Conduct outlines the behaviors which the University considers to be non-academic misconduct offences, and the range of remedies and/or penalties which may be imposed. Academic misconduct is outlined in UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS - Academic Misconduct in the University Calendar.

For more information about the Student Code of Conduct, see www.mun.ca/student.

9.3 University Libraries Description

With eight branches, Memorial University of Newfoundland Libraries is one of Atlantic Canada’s largest university libraries. In addition to providing access to millions of physical book and digital access to e-books, journals, and other resources, the libraries house several specialized archives and collections, including the largest collection of published materials about Newfoundland and Labrador in the world in the Centre for Newfoundland Studies.

The Libraries encourage innovation and excellence in the University’s teaching and learning, research, scholarship, creative activity, service and public engagement.

The Library offers a credit course which is described at the end of this section under Course Descriptions and designated by LIBR. The Library also offers a non-credit course which is described at the end of this section under Course Descriptions and designated by INTG.

9.4 Dr. C.R. Barrett Library

www.library.mun.ca/mi

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.library.mun.ca/mi/contactus.

The Dr. C.R. Barrett Library is located on the main floor of the Fisheries and Marine Institute. It offers a comprehensive range of library services to students, faculty, and staff at the Fisheries and Marine Institute and to the Newfoundland and Labrador marine industries.

The Library collection supports study and research in fisheries and aquaculture, marine engineering, nautical science, and the aquatic environment.

Library holdings include print and electronic books, technical reports, journal subscriptions, reference sources, audiovisual materials as well as ships drawings.

9.5 Education Library and Commons

www.library.mun.ca/edu

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.library.mun.ca/edu/contactus.

The Education Library and Commons are located in the Faculty of Education, G.A. Hickman Building on the second and fifth floors respectively. With seating for 100, the library’s reading room, study centres, and comfortable seating area are all collaborative spaces. Individual study carrels, computer carrels, and an interactive whiteboard workspace complete the public areas.

Library collections include 15,000 current and superseded curriculum resources authorized for use in Newfoundland and Labrador schools, and 20,000 children’s literature print books and electronic resources. Specialized collections, including the textbook archive, and a test library of assessment instruments, are restricted for use by students and faculty completing coursework and research with these materials.

The Teaching & Learning Commons is a technology-rich collaborative learning space designed with contemporary classroom computer equipment and modular furniture. Assistance is available for faculty, staff and students requiring technical help. With seating for 60, the flexible spaces, group work, and presentation practice areas are well appointed with hardware and software specific to the needs of Faculty of Education undergraduate and graduate students.
9.6 Ferriss Hodgett Library

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.library.mun.ca/hsl/contactus/staff.

The Health Sciences Library (HSL) is located on the ground floor of the Health Sciences Centre on the north Campus of the University. The HSL searches the world’s biomedical literature in support of clinical, teaching, and research interests.

The Health Sciences Library collects both print and electronic books in support of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, and Allied Health subjects, as well as subscribing to a variety of print and electronic journals. It maintains relevant databases, electronic resources, and audiovisual items to support academic pursuits and clinical care.

HSL librarians contribute to curricular objectives and provide specialized research expertise to academic and clinical research.

The HSL provides a comfortable and quiet space for study and reading, the location of two computer classrooms, as well as The Artery - a gallery of our users’ art.

9.8 Queen Elizabeth II Library

www.library.mun.ca/qeii/aboutus

Up-to-date personnel listings are available at www.library.mun.ca/qeii/contactus.

The Queen Elizabeth II Library (QEII) is one of Atlantic Canada’s largest university libraries. In addition to providing access to millions of physical books and digital access to e-books, journals, and other resources, the QEII Library houses several specialized archives and collections, including those of the Centre for Newfoundland Studies – holders of the largest collection of published materials about Newfoundland and Labrador in the world.

The QEII Library is also home to The Commons – a collaborative digital and study space and access to computers tutoring, assistive technology, a Digital Media Centre for graphic and video design programs, and a makerspace for creating, inventing, and tinkering. Surrounding The Commons is the First Space Art Gallery which hosts an array of diverse exhibitions throughout the year that are sure to inspire all those who use the Library’s services.

The QEII Library has a variety of quiet, social and group study spaces available to all students. Librarians and library staff are on hand to help empower the research process and support academic goals.

9.9 Course Descriptions

9.9.1 Library Credit Course

Library credit courses are designated by LIBR.

2100 Making and Understanding in a Digital World teaches students to analyze resources from MUN Libraries critically. Students will learn about information and digital literacy through archival and library resources and issues in their use. Starting with a single resource, students will develop a narrative of relevant scholarship for a digital video. Students will formulate research projects, develop skills to produce digital projects, communicate a narrative and demonstrate ability to use digital resources.

9.9.2 Library Non-Credit Course

Library non-credit courses are designated by INTG.

100A/B Academic Integrity is a non-credit course offered by the University Libraries, introduces students to the concept of academic integrity and the important role it plays at Memorial University of Newfoundland. Students complete online modules on a variety of topics including: understanding the meaning of academic integrity and its associated university regulations; how to complete university work with academic integrity; and how to avail of supports to ensure academic integrity. Normally, this course is completed by week 7 of a student’s first semester. This course is mandatory for all undergraduate students new to Memorial University of Newfoundland. Registration in subsequent semesters is dependent upon successful completion of this course. This course is offered only online.

AR = Attendance requirement; CH = Credit hours are 3 unless otherwise noted; CO = Co-requisite(s); CR = Credit can be retained for only one course from the set(s) consisting of the course being described and the course(s) listed; LH = Laboratory hours per week; OR = Other requirements of the course such as tutorials, practical sessions, or seminars; PR = Prerequisite(s); UL = Usage limitation(s).
10 Centre for Innovation in Teaching and Learning (CITL)

www.citl.mun.ca

Associate Vice-President, Teaching and Learning, and Director

Watson, G., B.A.Sc. Guelph, M.E.S., Ph.D. York

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.citl.mun.ca/about/Contacts.php.

The Centre for Innovation in Teaching and Learning (CITL) provides teaching and learning support to Memorial University of Newfoundland across all Campuses and online. CITL leads the delivery of online courses and programs, professional development for educators, and the use of educational media and technologies for teaching and learning. The Centre also partners with external and internal organizations and groups to meet education-related goals, facilitate research, and provide the wider community with access to University events and opportunities.

Through its activities CITL serves students and educators on all of the University's Campuses, and connects students across the Province, Country and around the world who have limited educational opportunities, or who seek flexibility in education delivery. The Centre also enhances, promotes and supports an e-learning vision throughout the Institution. CITL provides Faculties and Schools with the e-learning expertise and knowledge needed to provide an engaging and responsive learning environment for on campus and online courses. A Memorandum of Understanding with Newfoundland and Labrador English School District's Centre for Distance Learning and Innovation (CDLI), which delivers distance education to K-12 students, allows CITL to share knowledge and information and prepare the incoming university student for online learning.

10.1 Online Learning

CITL offers close to 500 online undergraduate and graduate courses to over 23,000 course registrants annually. Courses are available in many disciplines with complete undergraduate and graduate degrees available online. These include bachelor degrees in business (Bachelor of Business Administration and Bachelor of Business Administration (Transfer from other post-secondary institutions)) - Grenfell Campus, education (Bachelor of Education (Post-Secondary) as a First Degree and Bachelor of Education (Post-Secondary) as a Second Degree), maritime studies (Bachelor of Maritime Studies), pharmacy (Doctor of Pharmacy for Working Professionals) and technology (Bachelor of Technology); masters degrees are offered in education (Master of Education (Curriculum Teaching and Learning Studies), Master of Education (Educational Leadership Studies), Master of Education (Educational Technology) and Master of Education (Post-Secondary Studies)), human kinetics and recreation (Master of Kinetics Education), marine studies (Master of Marine Studies (Fisheries Resource Management), maritime management (Master of Maritime Management), nursing (Master of Nursing), and technology management (Master of Technology Management (Engineering/Applied Science Technology) and Master of Technology Management (Aquaculture Technology)). Courses are delivered online and use a variety of learning technologies including synchronous and asynchronous virtual classrooms, collaborative tools, blogs, e-portfolios, peer assessments, video assignments and videoconferencing. For a comprehensive listing of all online and mixed-mode programs visit www.citl.mun.ca/learning/programs.php.

10.2 Client Services

CITL provides support on campus at service points: G.A. Hickman Building, ED1032; Science Building, SN2104; S.J. Carew Building, EN3012; and the Commons in the Queen Elizabeth II Library. Online and telephone support is also available seven days a week. When the St. John's Campus is closed unexpectedly, regular online service hours remain in effect with staff providing remote client support. CITL can assist with: accessing online course components; accessing and using educational technologies, including Brightspace and Online Rooms; technical support for hardware/software configuration, embedded multimedia, and creating/editing course blogs; and accessing online student resources. CITL also supports and administers mid-term, final and deferred examinations for online courses, utilizing various invigilation methods including established exam sites and online invigilation. Additionally, to best serve new and returning online students, CITL makes regular and scheduled contact throughout the online experience to effectively engage and retain students. Further information on CITL services may be obtained online at www.citl.mun.ca or to the Support Centre at www.citl.mun.ca/ support, or by telephone to (709) 864-8700 or toll free to (866) 435-1396.

10.3 Course Development and Educational Technology

As an academic support unit, CITL works in coordination with Memorial University of Newfoundland's faculties and schools to identify and develop courses and programs for online delivery. Design and development professionals are paired with content experts from the respective faculties and schools to develop, manage and deliver the University's online offerings. In all its functions, CITL encourages and supports innovative teaching practices through the effective application of instructional technologies both online and on campus. A wide range of professional services in video production, multimedia development, instructional design, lecture capture, and classroom technology are available through CITL and aim to provide faculty with pedagogical enhancements and ultimately increase student engagement. Inquiries may be made by telephone to (709) 864-8700 or (866) 435-1396 (toll free).

10.4 Educator Development

CITL supports the University's faculty members, per course instructors, postdoctoral fellows, instructional staff members, and graduate students by providing educator development opportunities that enhance knowledge and skills in teaching. The team supports a collaborative, responsive, and pragmatic approach to developing services and programs related to teaching and learning using a blended format. Among the services provided are professional development experiences and programs for teaching development; individual and small group consultations; and assistance with teaching dossier preparation. Support is given for awards applications as well as other activities and initiatives that recognize excellence in university teaching. Further information on educator development services may be obtained by telephone (709) 864-3028 or by email to educatordev@mun.ca.

11 Students' Unions

11.1 Memorial University of Newfoundland Students' Union (MUNSU)

The Memorial University of Newfoundland Students' Union Act (1968) incorporated the Students' Union (MUNSU) as the official students' union representing undergraduate students at the University's St. John's campus.

The Students' Union provides a range of advocacy work to improve the lives of its members and increase accessibility of post-secondary education. It lobbies all levels of government and other decision-making bodies and organizes campaigns around these and other issues which are important to the membership. It also provides services to improve the quality of student life: the Attic (Copy Centre, Convenience, and Postal Service), Health and Dental Insurance, SafeDrive / WalkSafe, the Student Handbook/Dayplanner, Breezeway Bar, CHMR-FM radio, and others. The cost of services are partially funded by Students' Union fees paid by each undergraduate student upon registration. MUNSU assists students on an individual basis to resolve student aid issues as well as academic-based problems.
and appeals. Through the office of the Director of Advocacy, problems with appeals, assessments, repayment, and general complaints in these areas are addressed. Students who have more serious issues may be referred to the MUNSU legal aid service for one free consultation. These sessions are not considered extended legal counsel.

MUNSU has established and provides funding for a number of Resource Centres on campus: Women's Resource Centre (WRC), International Students' Centre (ISC), Lesbian-Bisexual-Gay-Transgender Resource Centre (LBGT-MUN), MUN DISC (Disability Information and Support Centre), Students Older than Average (SOTA), Student Parents Resource Centre, and the Students' Centre. The Students' Union also operates over 200 student clubs organized around a wide range of academic and extracurricular activities.

The Students' Union is a member local of the Canadian Federation of Students (CFS) representing over half a million students across Canada. Further information may be obtained from the website at www.munsu.ca.

11.1.1 Students' Union Fee
All full-time and part-time undergraduate and graduate students of the University pay compulsory fees to their respective students' unions (MUNSU or GSU) and all students, upon registration, automatically become members of either MUNSU, the undergraduate students' union, or GSU, the graduate students' union.

11.2 Grenfell Campus Student Union (GCSU)
Information regarding the Grenfell Campus Student Union (GCSU) is available under Grenfell Campus Student Union on the Grenfell Campus website.

11.3 Marine Institute Student Union (MISU)
Information regarding the Marine Institute Student Union (MISU) is available under Student Information on the Marine Institute website.

11.4 The Graduate Students' Union (GSU)
The Graduate Students' Union (GSU) at Memorial University of Newfoundland is an organization run for graduate students by graduate students. Founded in 1967, the GSU is one of Canada's oldest independently incorporated graduate student governments. Every graduate student at the University becomes a member of the GSU upon registration. Presently, the graduate student body consists of over 3000 full and part-time students, thereby comprising more than 10% of the total student population at Memorial University of Newfoundland.

The Graduate Students' Union has two main functions: 1) to represent and protect the interests of the graduate students at all levels of university governance, and 2) to help enhance the quality of graduate student life at Memorial University of Newfoundland. Graduate student fees provide the GSU with an annual operating budget. These fees are used to run the GSU office, help finance social and academic events for graduate students, provide conference aid for students presenting at conferences, and to cover other operating expenses.

The Graduate Students' Union is run by a Board of Directors consisting of the five GSU Executive officers and one student representative from each academic unit with a graduate program. Additionally, graduate students who sit on various university committees regularly attend. The Board meets once a month to assist the Executive in guiding the development and direction of the organization. The Board also gives students a chance to raise concerns from their individual departments and in return, to receive advice or suggestions on problem solving. These meetings are the main line of communication between the Executive officers and the graduate student population at the University. It is for this reason, that the GSU needs an active and interested Board of Directors. Graduate students who are interested in getting involved are always welcome, and should speak to their department representative, or contact the GSU office.

The Graduate Students' Union is located in Feild Hall on the north side of campus. Operated by the GSU, Feild Hall is comprised of four floors: the top two floors for a graduate student residence, one floor for departmental graduate student offices and GSU offices, and the ground floor for Bitters - Restaurant and Lounge, the pub owned and operated by the GSU.

The Graduate Students' Union general office is located on the second floor of Feild Hall in room GH 2007. Office hours are posted outside the office door, on the answering service, and the website. You can reach the GSU by phone to (709) 864-4395, by fax at (709) 864-3395, by email to gsu@gsumun.ca, or by writing to Graduate Students' Union, Feild Hall, GH2007, 216 Prince Philip Drive, St. John's, NL, A1B 3R5. Further information about the GSU can be obtained from the website at www.gsumun.ca.

12 Special Divisions and Separately Incorporated Entities

12.1 Canadian Centre for Fisheries Innovation (CCFI)
Managing Director

Located at the Fisheries and Marine Institute, the Canadian Centre for Fisheries Innovation is owned by Memorial University of Newfoundland. The Centre provides scientific research and technical services to the fishery and aquaculture. Working closely with the faculty and staff of the region's universities and technical institutes, the Centre provides expert assistance in the areas of aquaculture, harvesting and processing, with the aim of enhancing the industry's productivity and profitability. CCFI's activities also include resource conservation research, equipment development and marine biotechnology. The Centre's services are available to anyone in the fishery or aquaculture industry who wishes to overcome obstacles or meet opportunities through science and technology.

CCFI is an organization structured to meet the needs of the industry quickly and efficiently. The Industrial Liaison Officer collaborates directly with clients to develop and execute industrially relevant research and development projects.

Mandate
The organization works with industry clients to identify needs. It then collaborates with scientific and technical faculty and staff to devise solutions to meet those needs. CCFI works to ensure that the initiatives are organized, on time and directed to address the specific needs of the industry clients. The Centre also funds these projects, when required.

The Centre's research and development undertakings cover all areas of importance to the fishery and aquaculture industry:
1. Environmentally Sustainable Harvesting
2. Energy Efficiency
3. Utilization of Fish Wastes
4. Resource Assessment and Surveys
5. Improved and More Efficient Fishing Platforms
6. Human Resource/Technology Applications
7. Alternative Fish and Shellfish Species for Aquaculture
8. Efficiency and Profitability in Aquaculture
9. Resolving Environmental Issues in Aquaculture

With strong representation from industry, the Board of Directors oversees the direction and mandate of the Centre to ensure that its work is always relevant to the needs of the fishery.

12.2 C-CORE
www.c-core.ca

President & CEO
Griffin, P., President & CEO, C-CORE

C-CORE is a separately incorporated corporation of Memorial University of Newfoundland that creates value in the private and public sectors by undertaking applied research and development, generating knowledge, developing technology solutions and driving innovation.

Established in 1975 to address challenges facing oil & gas development offshore Newfoundland & Labrador and other ice-prone regions, C-CORE is now a multi-disciplinary R&D organization with world-leading capability in:

1. Remote Sensing
2. Ice Engineering
3. Geotechnical Engineering

With unparalleled harsh environment expertise, C-CORE is active on every continent, providing research-based advisory services and technology solutions to national and international clients in the natural resource, energy, security and transportation sectors.

C-CORE focuses on long-term value by investing in research, equipment and competence development, and continuously growing capability and capacity. Throughout the past generation, C-CORE has supported over 1000 undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students on their path to become the highly qualified personnel needed to drive global innovation, and has served as an incubator for 18 new technology companies.

Headquartered in St John’s, NL, with offices in Ottawa and Halifax, C-CORE maintains a close collaborative relationship with Memorial University of Newfoundland, sharing and augmenting its extensive facilities, diverse academic expertise and research portfolio.

From a staff of some 85 scientists, engineers and other professionals, project teams are assembled based on client need, drawing on internal expertise across disciplines, as well as national/international academic, institutional and corporate partnerships, in order to support increasingly safe and sustainable operations in challenging environments around the globe.

C-CORE’s in-house facilities include mechanical, electrical and soils laboratories; high-security high-capacity computing facilities; and a 5.5m-radius, 200G payload capacity Actidyn centrifuge (the largest in Canada and the only one in North America designed to model cold region phenomena), with adjoining model preparation laboratory and earthquake simulator; mechanical, electrical and soils laboratories.

C-CORE also hosts LOOKNorth (Leading Operational Observations and Knowledge for the North), a national Centre of Excellence for Commercialization and Research (CECR) dedicated to validating and commercializing monitoring technologies that support safe and sustainable development of Canada’s northern resources.

12.3 Centre for Collaborative Health Professional Education
www.med.mun.ca/cchpe

Director
Heath, D., B.A. McGill, M.Sc., Ph.D. Memorial; Associate Professor; Joint appointment Student Wellness and Counselling Centre and Community Health and Humanities, Faculty of Medicine; Cross appointment Department of Psychology

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.med.mun.ca/CCHPE/Home.aspx.

The Centre was established in September 1999 in response to a growing emphasis on interprofessional health care. Centre oversight is provided through a Governing Council comprising: the Deans of the Faculties of Education and Medicine and the Schools of Human Kinetics and Recreation, Nursing, Pharmacy and Social Work; the Director of the Student Wellness and Counselling Centre; or their representatives.

The Centre’s mission is to provide leadership in interprofessional education (IPE) and research that will improve the access, quality, safety and efficiency of health and social care provided to the public. Key activities of the Centre include:

1. development of interprofessional education curriculum for both learners and practitioners;
2. development of evaluation tools and frameworks for interprofessional education and collaborative practice;
3. research initiatives and networks related to interprofessional education and collaborative practice;
4. faculty development related to interprofessional education and collaborative practice; and
5. development of leaders in interprofessional education and collaborative practice.

All members of the University community including faculty, staff, and students are invited and encouraged to be engaged in the activities of the Centre. Academic Staff Members may hold an appointment as either a Faculty Scholar or Faculty Associate of the Centre. Faculty Scholars are appointed by the Governing Council on the recommendation of the respective Dean or Director based on their active engagement in academic development and scholarly activity related to the field of interprofessional collaboration and education. Faculty Associates actively participate in curriculum development or instruction of interprofessional education programs coordinated by the Centre. They are reviewed and approved by the Governing Council on an annual basis.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Centre in writing to the Centre for Collaborative Health Professional Education, Memorial University of Newfoundland, Health Sciences Centre H1650, St. John's, NL Canada, A1B 3V6, or by telephone at (709) 864-2895, or by fax at (709) 864-4988, or through the website at www.med.mun.ca/cchpe.
12.4 Centre for Earth Resources Research (CERR)

Director
Hanchar, J.M., B.S. Memphis, M.S. Vanderbilt, Ph.D. Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute
An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/earthsciences/Our_People.

Research Group
The Centre draws on the research expertise of faculty and research staff members in the Department of Earth Sciences as well as other specialists inside and external to the University. For a complete listing of faculty, see Earth Sciences entry.

Scope and Objectives
The CERR was established in 1983 to provide for the co-ordination and promotion of earth resources research and associated work related to the origin, discovery, development, exploitation, and environmental aspects of earth resources. The Centre promotes, initiates, and co-ordinates research within the earth resources disciplines on the national and international scenes. Researchers interact, when appropriate, with the industrial and government sectors and introduce other organizations to the potential benefits of further research and development in earth resources. The special facilities of the Centre complement the development of graduate and undergraduate programs in earth sciences and related disciplines at Memorial University of Newfoundland. A further function of the Centre is to contribute to the training of people competent in solving earth resources problems and to encourage personnel exchanges with industry and government. The Alexander Murray Building houses the Centre, and has laboratories for teaching and basic and applied research.

Organization
The Centre is an integral part of the Department of Earth Sciences. The active research of faculty members contributes to programs in the Centre. Increasing collaboration is under way with government and industry in research projects that emphasize earth resources. The work of the Centre addresses problems and opportunities related to mineral resources, petroleum resources, exploration technology, environmental geoscience, and generic research. The Centre works closely with other local, national, and international research institutes. CERR hosts the geoscience component of the University’s Oil and Gas Development Partnership.

12.5 Centre for Risk, Integrity and Safety Engineering (C-RISE)

www.mun.ca/engineering/crise

Director
Khan, F., B.Sc. (Eng.) AMV, M.Eng., I.I.T. Roorkee, Ph.D. Pondicherry, P.Eng.; Professor and Canada Research Chair in Offshore Safety and Risk Engineering; Head, Department of Process Engineering, Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science
An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/engineering/crise/about_us/people.

Located in the Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science, the Centre for Risk, Integrity and Safety Engineering (C-RISE) is a leading interdisciplinary centre of excellence on safety, integrity and sustainability of industrial processes and systems, with particular focus on process operations in harsh environments. The areas of expertise and activities are:

- Safety engineering;
- Risk engineering;
- Occupational and process safety;
- Fault diagnosis and early warning systems;
- Asset Integrity modelling and management; and
- Environmental modelling and management.

C-RISE engages highly qualified experts and brings together faculty and researchers from engineering and applied science, mathematics, sociology, business, medicine and others to pursue innovative and cross-disciplinary safety, risk and reliability based research and development. The Centre fosters collaboration among faculty and researchers in these various units as well as other experts, nationally and internationally.

Further information can be obtained by writing to the Centre for Risk, Integrity and Safety Engineering (C-RISE), Memorial University of Newfoundland, Brunei Centre for Research and Innovation, IIC 1021, St. John’s, NL, A1C 5S7, or by e-mail at crise@mun.ca, or to the Director at fikhan@mun.ca, or through the website at www.mun.ca/engineering/crise.

Director
Valcour, J., B.Sc., M.Sc., Ph.D. Guelph, Epidemiology

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.med.mun.ca/HRU/FacultyStaff.aspx.

The Health Research Unit (HRU) is a component of the Division of Community Health and Humanities, Faculty of Medicine, Memorial University of Newfoundland. The purpose of the HRU is to improve the health of the community through studies in:

- Health promotion
- Health protection
- Health status
- Health services
- Health programs and policies
- Disease prevention
- Ethics and Humanities
- Indigenous Health

The goals of the HRU are to make available the professional skills and experience in the Division of Community Health and Humanities to communities, organizations and agencies, government, industry and other faculties.

The Health Research Unit may be contacted by telephone at (709) 864-6656 or by e-mail to hru@mun.ca.

12.11 Institute of Social and Economic Research (ISER)
www.mun.ca/iser

Director
Tye, Dr. D., B.A.(Hons.) Mount Allison, M.A., Ph.D. Memorial; Professor, Department of Folklore

An up-to-date listing for the Executive Committee is available at www.mun.ca/iser/contact/board.php.

Purpose And Mandate
The purpose of the Institute shall be to undertake, sponsor, and publish research within such disciplines and in such parts of the world as are deemed of relevance to Newfoundland and Labrador and the broader Atlantic world. Without limiting the generality of the above, research pertaining directly to social and economic development in Newfoundland and Labrador shall be of special importance.

Organization
The Institute is an integral part of, and not an autonomous appendage, of the University. It is so organized that all its officers serve the University in other capacities and it is ultimately responsible to the President and Board of Regents of the University. The management of its affairs is vested in an Executive Committee, while the day-to-day responsibilities are in the hands of the Director. Since September 2006, the Executive Committee has also served as the Board of Directors of the J.R. Smallwood Foundation for Newfoundland and Labrador Studies.

Fellowships
In general, ISER fellowships function to supplement and stimulate research interests of faculty and graduate students working within the research mandate of ISER. Terms and conditions of ISER fellowships may be obtained in writing to ISER, Institute of Social and Economic Research, Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John’s, Newfoundland and Labrador, A1C 5S7, or by telephone at (709) 864-8156, or by email at iser@mun.ca, or through the website at www.mun.ca/iser/.

ISER Books
The Institute publishes research falling within the ISER mandate - more than 160 titles to date. Many of the books originate in research undertaken by ISER itself. Some notable ISER books, however, have originated outside the Institute. Authors are invited to submit completed manuscripts that fall within ISER’s mandate. Further information may be obtained in writing to ISER Books, Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John’s, Newfoundland and Labrador, A1C 5S7, or by telephone at (709) 864-3453, or email at iser-books@mun.ca, or through the website at www.mun.ca/iser/.

www.mun.ca/international

Director
Knutson, S., B.Ed. Concordia, M.Ed. Memorial

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/international/contacts-new.

Purpose And Mandate
The Internationalization Office is, in general, concerned with:

1. implementing the Strategic Internationalization Plan 2020;
2. supporting the international experiences of students at home and abroad;
3. providing program information and advice to faculty and staff and act as the central contact with Universities Canada, the Canadian Bureau for International Education, and other similar bodies; and
4. pursuing new opportunities for international business development with the private sector and other educational institutions.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Internationalization Office by telephone at (709) 864-8895 or 864-2330, or through the website at www.mun.ca/international/; or by mail to Internationalization Office, Global Learning Centre (Corte Real), Room 2004, 57 Allandale Road (Burton’s Pond), Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John’s, NL, Canada A1B 3S7.
12.13 The J.R. Smallwood Foundation for Newfoundland and Labrador Studies www.mun.ca/smallwood

Director
Tye, Dr. D., B.A.(Hons.) Mount Allison, M.A., Ph.D. Memorial; Professor, Department of Folklore

An up-to-date listing for the Executive Committee is available at www.mun.ca/smallwood/contacts/board.php.

Purpose And Mandate
The Smallwood Foundation was established with funds transferred in trust from the J.R. Smallwood Heritage Foundation. The Foundation administers the income from such funds for the promotion and support of research focussing on Newfoundland and Labrador. The board supports research proposals in the humanities and social sciences from both inside and outside the university community.

Organization
Effective September 1, 2006, the Executive Committee of ISER also serves as the Board of Directors of the J.R. Smallwood Foundation. In accordance with its mandate, the board awards grants to individual scholars and organizations which have clearly defined objectives and which serve to develop the academic understanding and general appreciation of the province’s society, history and culture. Full details of grant categories and application procedures are available on the Foundation’s web site at www.mun.ca/smallwood.

Further information may be obtained by telephone at (709) 864-8156 or in writing to The Director, J.R. Smallwood Foundation for Newfoundland and Labrador Studies, Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John’s, NL, A1C 5S7.

www.mun.ca/labradorinstitute

Director
Cunsolo, A., Ph.D. GuelpH

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/labradorinstitute/people.

Purpose And Mandate
The Labrador Institute is a leading centre of research, education, outreach, and policy, and by and for the North. As a division of Memorial University of Newfoundland, the Labrador Institute is one of the few university based units in Canada dedicated solely to the needs and priorities of the North. Since 1979, the Labrador Institute has worked to bring the resources and expertise of Memorial University of Newfoundland to Labrador, and the priorities and local knowledge and sciences of Labrador to the University.

The Labrador Institute currently has four remote locations servicing the region: a central core in Happy Valley-Goose Bay (HVGB) (central Labrador) including offices, research space, and a library and Labrador-based archives; a new state-of-the-art research station and laboratories, including analytic and prep labs, in North West River (30 minutes from HVGB); an office in Labrador City (western Labrador); and a research hub in Forteau (southern Labrador).

With a focus on Northern-led, Northern-focused, and Northern-inspired research and education, the Labrador Institute has a diverse complement of staff members, including faculty members, scientists, researchers, post-doctoral fellows, program coordinators, and administrative specialists, as well as a range of students, visiting researchers, research assistants, and interns. Since the Labrador Institute is situated on the homelands of the Innu and Inuit, the Institute also has a special obligation to the Indigenous peoples of the region, and works in partnership on research and education programming, outreach activities, and strategic planning.

Organization
The Director of the Labrador Institute reports to the Provost/Vice-President (Academic)/Pro Vice-Chancellor.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Institute by e-mail to labradorins@mun.ca, in writing to the Labrador Institute, P.O. Box 490, Station B, Happy Valley-Goose Bay, NL, A0P 1E0, or by telephone at (709) 896-6210, or by fax at (709) 896-2970.

12.15 Maritime History Archive (MHA)
www.mun.ca/mha

Contact information is available at www.mun.ca/mha/about.php.

The Maritime History Archive (MHA) is a unit of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences. Its functions include the acquisition, organization and preservation of materials relating to the history of maritime activities in Newfoundland and Labrador and throughout the North Atlantic World.

In the mid 1970s the Public Record Office, London, England transferred 22,000 ft. of original documentation in the series “Agreements and Account of Crew” for 1863-1938, 1951-1976 to the MHA. These documents represent an incomparable source for the study of the operation and movements of British Empire vessels throughout the world. Combined with other collections in the archive which relate to fisheries, commerce and other sea-based activities, the crew agreements have made the MHA an internationally known resource centre for the study of maritime history. In addition, in 2001 the Newfoundland and Labrador Heritage Web Site came under the direction of the MHA.

The MHA is housed in the Henrietta Harvey Building and is open to the public Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Additional information regarding the MHA is available at www.mun.ca/mha.

12.16 The Maritime Studies Research Unit (MSRU)
www.mun.ca/msru

Chair
Korneski, K., B.A. Northern Illinois, Ph.D. Memorial; Associate Professor, Department of History

An up-to-date listing for the Unit Members is available at www.mun.ca/msru/members.

The Maritime Studies Research Unit (MSRU) is a research unit within the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, whose purpose is to foster interdisciplinary research on maritime studies, understood as the interpretation of human behaviour in marine and coastal environments, in the past and to the present day. The Unit furthers this objective with workshops, colloquia, publications, and research projects and by providing advice and support to other units within the University. Membership in the MSRU is open to faculty and staff of Memorial University of Newfoundland with research interests in maritime studies. Other scholars with parallel interests, including graduate students in the University’s Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, are eligible for associate membership. Currently, the MSRU has associate members in Canada, England, Nigeria, Scotland and the United States.
12.17 Memorial Centre for Entrepreneurship (MCE)

www.mun.ca/mce

Director

Villaume, F., M.Eng. École Nationales Supérieures des Arts et Métiers, France, M.Sc. Laval

Up-to-date personnel and the Board of Advisor listings are available at www.mun.ca/mce/About/outerteam.php.

The Memorial Centre for Entrepreneurship (MCE) is a campus-wide Centre of Memorial University of Newfoundland in St. John’s that promotes entrepreneurship, supporting students, faculty and staff in the development of their startup idea and contributing to the development of an attractive entrepreneurial ecosystem.

MCE is the starting point for any Memorial University of Newfoundland student, faculty or staff member interested in entrepreneurship. The Centre offers mentorship, networking, training, and funding.

Further information can be obtained on the website at www.mun.ca/mce or by e-mail to mce@mun.ca.

Contact information for MUN (UK) Ltd. is available at www.mun.ca/harlow/contact/.

Harlow Campus is the international campus of Memorial University of Newfoundland, one of only two universities in Canada with campus facilities in the United Kingdom. MUN (UK) Ltd. directs the operations of Harlow Campus in Essex, United Kingdom. Harlow Campus is run by a general manager who operates the Campus for students in academic (credit) and professional development (non-credit) programs. All programs are developed and overseen through Memorial University of Newfoundland’s Office of the Provost and Vice-President (Academic).

Specific queries about academic programs offered at the Harlow Campus should be directed to the head of the appropriate academic unit or the Office of the Provost and Vice-President (Academic), Memorial University of Newfoundland, St. John’s, NL, A1C 5S7, by telephone at (709) 864-8246, by fax at (709) 864-2074, or by email at vpa@mun.ca.

General enquiries about the Harlow Campus should be directed to Ms. Sandra Wright, General Manager, Harlow Campus, The Maltings, St. John’s Walk, Harlow, Essex CM17 0AJ, UK., by telephone at 011 44 1279 455902, by fax at 011 44 1279 455921, or by e-mail at sandra.wright@mun.ca.

12.19 Newfoundland and Labrador Centre for Applied Health Research (NLCAHR)

www.nlcahr.mun.ca

Director

Bornstein, S., B.A. Toronto, M.A., Ph.D. Harvard

Up-to-date personnel and Board of Directors listings are available at www.nlcahr.mun.ca/About.

The Newfoundland and Labrador Centre for Applied Health Research (NLCAHR) was established in September 1999 as a joint venture of the Department of Health and Community Services, the Health Care Corporation of St. John’s and Memorial University of Newfoundland. Since its inception, the Centre has provided support for applied health research in the Province through its grant and awards programs, its knowledge transfer activities and its capacity development services.

NLCAHR’s mission is to contribute to the effectiveness and efficiency of the health and community service system of Newfoundland and Labrador and to the physical, social, psychological health and well-being of the Province’s population by supporting the development and use of applied health research in this province.

The Centre’s work revolves around three principal goals:

1. to help build human capacity and organizational resources for undertaking and supporting high-quality applied health research in the Province;
2. to increase the amount and impact of high-quality applied health research undertaken on the priority research themes of Newfoundland and Labrador; and
3. to help increase the effective use of research evidence in the Province’s health and community services system.

NLCAHR fosters and supports inter-disciplinary collaboration and serves as a bridge between researchers and decision-makers in government, the provincial healthcare system and community organizations. The Centre funds health research through annual peer-reviewed research grant competitions; supports research training by awarding fellowships at the master’s, doctoral, and postdoctoral levels; and runs a number of other programs to encourage and support applied health researchers in Newfoundland and Labrador. The Centre’s flagship knowledge exchange program, the Contextualized Health Research Synthesis Program (CHRSP), is a collaborative effort of researchers and health system leaders that seeks to identify urgent issues involving health services and health technologies that are of pressing interest to Newfoundland and Labrador. CHRSP teams work to identify the highest quality research on these issues and to interpret it in the light of the unique geographic, economic, demographic and other characteristics of this province.

The research supported by the Centre is broad in scope and includes research in the areas of health services delivery and evaluation, health economics and policy, healthcare utilization and systems, community and population health, health-related social sciences, and applied clinical research focussing on the process of delivering care rather than therapeutics or diagnostics.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Centre in writing to the Newfoundland and Labrador Centre for Applied Health Research, Suite 300, 95 Bonaventure Avenue, St. John’s, NL, A1B 2X5, or telephone at (709) 777-6993, or fax at (709) 777-6734, or e-mail at nlcahr@mun.ca, or through the website at www.nlcahr.mun.ca.
12.20 Ocean Engineering Research Centre (OERC) www.mun.ca/engineering/research/facilities/centres/oerc/

Director
Molyneux, W.D., B.Sc., M.A.Sc. British Columbia, Ph.D. Memorial, P.Eng., Fellow RINA; Associate Professor, Ocean and Naval Architectural Engineering

An up-to-date Governance Board listing is available at www.mun.ca/engineering/research/facilities/centres/oerc/governance.php.

Scope And Objectives
The Ocean Engineering Research Centre (OERC) is an integral part of the Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science at Memorial University of Newfoundland and has contributed to the success of the Faculty's research and academic programs.

The overall goal of the OERC is to generate research activity that has high potential for impact. The OERC draws upon faculty expertise and its relationships with industry, other research institutes, and branches of government to create networks of people who share common goals. The scope of applied research and consulting activities carried out by members of the OERC is broad, including ocean engineering related to the offshore, marine transportation, and fishing industries. In addition to faculty experience, the OERC operates a 58 metre long towing tank with wave generation capabilities.

Organization
The St. John's marine research community is vibrant and collaborative. Within the University the Centre maintains ties with C-CORE (by joint appointments of faculty and collaborative projects), the Ocean Science Centre and the Fisheries and Marine Institute. Similar ties are maintained with the Institute for Ocean Technology (IOT) of the National Research Council (NRC), which is located adjacent to the Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science on the University campus. The Centre collaborates with and serves various small and large private sector firms with ocean engineering interests. The Centre works with Oceanic Consulting Corporation to provide marine performance evaluation services to the world's oceans industries. An alliance between the University, NRC and Marineering Limited of St. John's, Oceanic uses the ocean engineering capabilities and facilities of the University and NRC to support clients and projects around the world.

12.21 Ocean Sciences Centre (OSC)
www.mun.ca/osc
www.mun.ca/osc/jbarb/
www.mun.ca/osc/CDRF/index.php

Director
Fletcher, G.L., B.Sc. British Columbia, Ph.D. California; Professor Emeritus; Head, Department of Ocean Sciences

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/osc/people.

The Ocean Sciences Centre (OSC) is a major facility for marine research on the Atlantic coast, and is one of Canada's largest marine laboratories. It houses the Department of Ocean Sciences, the Joe Brown Aquatic Research Building and the recently constructed Cold-Ocean and Deep-Sea Research Facility (CDRF). The OSC provides Canadian and international scientists and students access to the flora and fauna of the northwest Atlantic Ocean and is uniquely suited for shore-based studies of cold-ocean processes and subarctic, Arctic and deep-sea organisms. The facility provides all the necessary elements to conduct first-rate marine science, including high quality seawater, equipment to collect and maintain aquatic organisms, boats and vehicles to access field sites, laboratory space with running seawater, cutting-edge analytical and molecular biological instruments, and support staff. A strategic goal of the OSC is to carry out world-class research that focuses on organisms and processes in cold oceans, and to provide high quality educational and training opportunities.

Located at Logy Bay, 10 km from the St. John's campus, the OSC has an excellent unpolluted seawater supply that is the lifeline of the centre. There are 57 laboratories of varying size, some of which have flowing seawater and others which are dedicated for analytical chemistry, biochemistry, physiology, histology, molecular biology (genetics and genomics) and microscopy. There are several cold rooms for controlled physiological experiments and common-use rooms for fish sampling, microscopy/image analysis, high-speed centrifugation, and radiotrace analyses. Field Services maintain a suite of oceanographic sampling tools. The unit operates a 4 m zodiac, 7 m Boston Whaler and 5 ton multi-purpose vehicle with aeration and recirculating seawater holding tanks (2500 L) suitable for transporting live specimens over long distances.

The Dr. Joe Brown Aquatic Research Building (JBARB) provides state-of-the-art facilities and world class staff with expertise to support research, training, pre-commercial production, and small-scale commercial trials in marine aquaculture. A critical component of the 1400 square meters facility is a seawater system designed to deliver high quality, temperature-controlled, flow-through water. Separate tanks and rooms are available for broodstock conditioning, paired mating, hatchery rearing, first feeding/nursery operations, grow-out and physiological investigations on various marine species including fishes, molluscs, and echinoderms. The JBARB carries out research in collaboration with Memorial University of Newfoundland, and government and industry partners. The aquaculture potential of various marine species (Atlantic cod, Atlantic salmon, Arctic char, Steelhead trout, cutters, flounder, oysters, mussels, sea cucumbers, sea urchins, etc.) is being evaluated through the study of broodstock biology, physiology and genomics, and the development of larval rearing techniques.

The Cold-Ocean Deep-Sea Research Facility (CDRF), provides researchers with access to state of the art infrastructure and equipment for the study of freshwater and marine organisms, especially those from the cold waters of the Arctic and North Atlantic oceans. The CDRF uniquely provides a local seawater line for a continuous flow-through water supply to an AQ23 certified biocontainment facility. The facility is newly equipped with histology, microscopy and cell culture equipment. Together, these tools are used to study the biology and mitigation of disease in commercial fisheries species. Pressure vessels, the only ones of their kind in North America, are used for original research on deep-sea life and equipment.

Research Themes
- physiology, biochemistry and molecular biology
- marine biotechnology
- biological and chemical oceanography
- behavioural and population ecology
- aquaculture and fisheries
- marine biogeochemistry
12.22 Research Grant and Contract Services (RGCS)

www.mun.ca/research

Director
Miller, D., B.Sc.(Hons.), M.Sc., MCIC Memorial

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.mun.ca/research/about/rwcs/contact.php.

Research Grant and Contract Services (RGCS) mandate is to support researchers through the entire research project life cycle which includes the review and approval of research grants and contracts, project management support & post award administrative services. RGCS has designed, implemented and now supports a wide range of technologies which focus on streamlining the business processes related to research. These processes include: applications for funding, negotiation of contracts for research projects, applications for and maintenance of ethics on appropriate research projects, project oversight for the delivery of major research partnership projects.

RGCS is the primary point of contact for all research funding applications except the Canada Research Chairs (CRC) and Canada Foundation for Innovation (CFI) programs. Strategic Institutional Research Initiatives (SIRI) is responsible for the above mentioned programs.

Individuals seeking more information about Research Grant and Contract Services, should contact the Director by emailing rgcs@mun.ca, by telephone at (709) 864-4791, by fax (709) 864-4612 or in-person at the Bruneau Centre for Research and Innovation, room IIIC2015, or through the website at www.mun.ca/research.

12.23 The Works/Memorial University Recreation Complex Incorporated (MURC)

www.theworksnl.ca

Director/General Manager
Neil, C.

An up-to-date personnel listing is available at www.theworksnl.ca.

The Works

The Works is a separately incorporated entity with a volunteer Board of Directors. The Works operates the Field House, Aquarena and other recreation facilities on the St. John’s campus. The facilities offer a variety of fitness, aquatics and recreation programs for all ages. The Works offers services for members of the University, including students, faculty, and staff and also the community at large.

Further information may be obtained by contacting The Works by telephone at the Field House (709) 864-4422, or the Aquarena at (709) 864-3798, or through the website at www.theworksnl.ca.
