Reasonable travel expenses to and from Oxford will be paid by the Trust. A Rhodes Scholar may apply to any one of the courses of study available at the University of Oxford, subject to the consent of the college or, in the case of graduate study, the relevant faculty or department. The stipend of a Rhodes Scholarship consists of a direct payment to the University and to the Scholar's College of approved fees (such as matriculation, tuition, laboratory fees, and certain other set charges), plus a maintenance allowance, which is paid directly to the Scholar at the rate of at least £3,480 per annum to cover board, lodging and other expenses. The sum provided should be sufficient to enable a Scholar to meet the necessary expenses for term-time and vacations, but those who can afford to supplement it to a modest extent from their own resources are advised to do so. Reasonable travel expenses to and from Oxford will be paid by the Trust. Application forms containing full particulars can be obtained from the Secretary of the Selection Committee for the Province of Newfoundland. The Government of Canada and the Government of Newfoundland and Labrador work together to provide student financial assistance to residents of the province. Students who have a demonstrated financial need may, upon application, may receive financial support from the Canada-Newfoundland and Labrador Student Financial Assistance Program. Students are encouraged to apply online at www.ed.gov.nl.ca/studentaid/ and to apply early.

Your eligibility to receive assistance will be determined by assessing your financial need. This is done by adding the costs of your education and living expenses, and then subtracting any money that may be available to you. This determines your assessed financial need - the amount of funding for which you may be eligible. The formula is: Costs - Available Resources = Assessed Need.

The provincial government provides funding for 40% of the amount assessed to a maximum total of $140 per week of study; the federal government provides funding for 60% of the amount assessed to a maximum of $210 per week of study (in some cases, eligible recipients of Canada Student Loans and Canada Student Grants may receive greater than $210 per week of study in total federal assistance).

Receiving A Student Loan

- a. Step 1: Once you are approved to receive assistance, you will be sent a Master Student Financial Assistance Agreement (MSFAA). This agreement must be signed and sent to the National Student Loans Service Centre (NSLSC) and include all supporting documents.
Completing and Submitting the Master Student Financial Assistance Agreement (MSFAA):
Step 1 - Read the MSFAA!
Step 2 - Complete the required sections.
Step 3 - Take your MSFAA to a designated Canada Post outlet along with the following (for a list of designated Canada Post outlets, visit: www.CanLearn.ca):
 1. Your Social Insurance Number card or a copy of your Canada Revenue Agency Notice of Tax Assessment;
 2. Official government issued photo identification; and
 3. A void cheque (if you do not have a cheque, your bank or credit union can help you complete the Electronic Funds Transfer section of the MSFAA).
- b. Step 2: Once NSLSC receives your MSFAA your educational institution must confirm your enrolment.
- c. Step 3: Once full-time enrolment has been confirmed, but no earlier than the first day of classes, eligible financial assistance will be deposited to your bank account. If you do not have a bank account, a cheque made payable to you will be mailed to the address you provide. All or a part of your financial assistance may be sent to your educational institution to pay fees owing. You will receive a letter from the NSLSC advising you of the amount of your disbursement that has been issued to you and/or your Educational Institution. You can also visit the NSLSC website at www.CanLearn.ca for further information.

The disbursement to you and/or your institution may not occur simultaneously due to a difference between the federal and provincial deposit dates.
